With the support of village headmen, it has enabled GRIRR to identify women who are in need of support and help during these trying times. GRIRR's engagement with ration distribution started from the months of April. This pandemic has brought a lot of unexpected challenges and struggles. We are grateful to Goonj for lending their support in time of need and we still hope to work in helping persons with disabilities in the society when times are tough.

WINTER KITS DISTRIBUTION

Marginalized children and adults in slums area are forced to spend the night shivering in cold every year as they are unable to have warm clothing in winter. Trembling in the cold weather throughout the night some old people even give up their lives. Normally, it is reported that these people passed away because of the cold. On the other hand, the reality is that they succumbed to the cold because of the unavailability of warm clothing, for the privileged. The thought of winter reminds them of cozy warm clothing and sipping warm coffee. But the poverty-stricken people in remote areas have to fight for even surviving with every dropping degree of temperature.

GRIRR conducted the distribution of warm cloths for deprived children and adults in remote areas to ensure their safety in the winters. We regularly distribute fleece, warm cloths, and other winter cloths in our project area of intervention. The beneficiaries include children of all ages and adults as well as persons with disabilities.

Warm cloths can be the most valuable gift for marginalized children and adults in the winter; thousands of them are exposed to many health hazards as they suffer from the bitter cold in extreme weather conditions. We consider it as a blessed opportunity to render the best possible service to mankind by distributing warm cloths in the winters. Undeniably, there can be no greater satisfaction than saving valuable human life from the bitter cold extreme weather conditions.

E-THERAPY AND PHYSIOTHERAPY UNIT

This form of the therapy seeks to help patients cope with everyday problems, such as work, and life transitions. The goal is to empower the children with disabilities by finding areas he or she can control and successfully manage. The emphasis lies on the children with disabilities strengths rather than behavioral short-comings. Our aim to help the child to manage their physical symptoms and achieve functional mobility. We assess, treat and advise on exercises and activities which the child can do with their family and in school.

In the pediatrics population, the main focus is to bring the child to his/her optimal functional independence in any given setting whether it be home, school, or any other community. The physiotherapy will also aim at Teaching correct movement patterns
